

Sruthi Petre Mallika
Department of Psychology,
University of New York in Prague,
Prague, CZ.

sruthipeter.github.io
sruthikurup@gmail.com

Education

- University of New York in Prague Prague, Czech Republic
Major : Psychology , GPA : 3.14 December 2015
 - Social Psychology, Psychology of Adjustment, Statistics for Social Sciences, Multivariate Statistics, Experimental Psychology, Research Methods, Psychological Measurements.

Research Experience

- Research Assistant Seattle, WA
Stereotypes, Identity and Belonging Lab, University of Washington Mar - Sept 2016
 - Fill me!
- Research Assistant Seattle, WA
Stereotypes, Identity and Belonging Lab, University of Washington Jun - Aug 2015
 - Fill me!

Software Skills

- SPSS, R, iMovie.

Course Projects

- Undergraduate Thesis Prague, CZ
Advisor: Prof. Judith Gerardi, SUNY Empire State College 2015
 - Fill me!
- Term Papers Senior Year
Notable term papers
 - Cognition (Spring 2014, Grade: A): Submitted a term paper analysing Dr. Zenon Pylyshyns article “What is cognitive science?” in which we discussed representation- governed behavior, cognitive capacity, tri-level hypothesis of complex systems, and unconscious processing.
 - Psychology of Adolescence and Adulthood (Spring 2014, Grade: A): Did a group project on “Divorce” focusing on how it affects adolescents and adults and the differences in the coping mechanisms of each group. We collected data/ statistics from the Czech Rep, UK, and US and analyzed the differences in culture, gender, effects on children, differences in the coping mechanisms of children and adults.
 - Psychology of Infancy and Adulthood (Fall 2014. Grade: A): Detailed critique of “Loneliness and peer relations in young children” by Dr. J.Cassidy and Dr. S.R.Asher. The aim of the article was to understand loneliness, determine the possibility of measuring loneliness in young children, and to test if sociometrically rejected children experience loneliness more than their peers from normal circumstances. The critique was highly appreciated.
 - Health Psychology (Spring 2014, Grade: A): Extensive literature survey analyzing the negative influence of media on American teenagers developing an eating disorder like Anorexia or Bulimia.

Volunteer Experience

- Volunteer at the Department of Psychiatry in Prague LF1 Hospital as part of Health Psychology seminar (Spring 2014): Observation of patients who were Schizophrenics, pedophiles, rapists, and necrophiliacs. Exposure to such clinical conditions provided a better idea of how symptoms can vary among the mentioned psychotic disorders.

- Assistant at Valsala Nursing home in Trivandrum, India (Summer 2013): Observation and communication with patients, participated in morning rounds with the gynecologist. Exposure to basic medical care and several medical cases.